10 The Erl-King's Daughter

Danish.

The Original is in the Kiampe-Viiser.

O'er mountains, through vallies, Sir Oluf he wends
To bid to his wedding relations and friends;
'Tis night, and arriving where sports the elf band,
The Erl-King's proud daughter presents him her hand.

— "Now welcome, Sir Oluf! oh! welcome to me! "Come, enter our circle my partner to be." — — "Fair lady, nor can I dance with you, nor may; "To-morrow I marry, to-night must away." —	5
— "Now listen, Sir Oluf! oh! listen to me! "Two spurs of fine silver thy guerdon shall be; "A shirt too of silk will I give as a boon, "Which my queen-mother bleach'd in the beams of the moon.	10
"Then yield thee, Sir Oluf! oh! yield thee to me! "And enter our circle my partner to be!" — — "Fair lady, nor can I dance with you, nor may; "To-morrow I marry, to-night must away." —	15
— "Now listen, Sir Oluf! oh! listen to me! "An helmet of gold will I give unto thee!" — — "An helmet of gold would I willingly take, "But I will not dance with you, for Urgela's sake." — — "And deigns not Sir Oluf my partner to be? "Then curses and sickness I give unto thee; "Then curses and sickness thy steps shall pursue:	20
"Now ride to thy lady, thou lover so true." —

Thus said she, and laid her charm'd hand on his heart; —

Sir Oluf, he never had felt such a smart; Swift spurr'd he his steed till he reach'd his own door, And there stood his mother his castle before.

- "Now riddle me, Oluf, and riddle me right:
 "Why look'st thou, my dearest, so wan and so white?" —
 "How should I not, mother, look wan and look white?
 "I have seen the Erl-King's cruel daughter to-night.
- "She cursed me! her hand to my bosom she press'd;
 "Death follow'd the touch, and now freezes my breast!
 "She cursed me, and said, "To your lady now ride;"

 "Oh! ne'er shall my lips press the lips of my bride."—
- "Now riddle me, Oluf, and what shall I say,
 "When here comes the lady, so fair and so gay?" —
 "Oh! say, I am gone for awhile to the wood,
 "To prove if my hounds and my coursers are good." —

Scarce dead was Sir Oluf, and scarce shone the day, When in came the lady, so fair and so gay; And in came her father, and in came each guest, Whom the hapless Sir Oluf had bade to the feast.

- They drank the red wine, and they ate the good cheer;

 "Oh! where is Sir Oluf! oh, where is my dear?" —

 "Sir Oluf is gone for awhile to the wood,

 "To prove if his hounds and his coursers are good." —
- Sore trembled the lady, so fair and so gay;

 She eyed the red curtain; she drew it away;

 50

 But soon from her bosom for ever life fled,

 For there lay Sir Oluf, cold, breathless, and dead.
