| 15 We are seven   |    |
|---|----|
| A simple child, dear brother Jim,That lightly draws its breath,And feels its life in every limb,What should it know of death?   |    |
| I met a little cottage girl,She was eight years old, she said;Her hair was thick with many a curlThat cluster'd round her head. | 5  |
| She had a rustic, woodland air,And she was wildly clad;Her eyes were fair, and very fair,— Her beauty made me glad.             | 10 |
| "Sisters and brothers, little maid,"How many may you be?""How many? seven in all," she said,And wondering looked at me.         | 15 |
| "And where are they, I pray you tell?"She answered, "Seven are we,"And two of us at Conway dwell,"And two are gone to sea.      | 20 |
| "Two of us in the church-yard lie,"My sister and my brother,"And in the church-yard cottage, I"Dwell near them with my mother." |    |
| "You say that two at Conway dwell,"And two are gone to sea,   | 25 |

William Wordsworth (1770-1850)

| "Yet you are seven; I pray you tell"Sweet Maid, how this may be?"  |    |
|--|----|
| Then did the little Maid reply,"Seven boys and girls are we;"Two of us in the church-yard lie,"Beneath the church-yard tree."              | 30 |
| "You run about, my little maid,"Your limbs they are alive;"If two are in the church-yard laid,"Then ye are only five."                     | 35 |
| "Their graves are green, they may be seen,"The little Maid replied,"Twelve steps or more from my mother's door,"And they are side by side. | 40 |
| "My stockings there I often knit,"My 'kerchief there I hem;"And there upon the ground I sit —"I sit and sing to them.                      |    |
| "And often after sunset, Sir,"When it is light and fair,"I take my little porringer,"And eat my supper there.                              | 45 |
| "The first that died was little Jane;"In bed she moaning lay,"Till God released her of her pain,"And then she went away.                   | 50 |
| "So in the church-yard she was laid,"And all the summer dry,"Together round her grave we played,"My brother John and I.                    | 55 |

| "And when the ground was white with snow, |    |
|---|----|
| "And I could run and slide,               |    |
| "My brother John was forced to go,        |    |
| "And he lies by her side."                | 60 |
|   |    |
| "How many are you then," said I,          |    |
| "If they two are in Heaven?"              |    |

"O Master! we are seven." "But they are dead; those two are dead! 65 "Their spirits are in heaven!" "Twas throwing words away; for still The little Maid would have her will,

The little Maiden did reply,

And said, "Nay, we are seven!"
